Dear Madam:

Since your telephone message of some time ago, I have been waiting to hear from the lawyer as to what he desires in the form of a listed specific evaluation of the coins that you left here for us to appraise. Not having heard from him, and as I do not know his name and address, I have not been able to do anything more concerning the matter. If you could either remind the lawyer, or send me his name and address, I would appreciate it.

Yours very truly,

Curator.

Dear Mr Ford -

I am sorry to have left your Friend Letter unanswered so long. In reference to the coins left by the Defendant State. There has been quite a little friction, relative to the settlement of the Estate. They not have a new Lawyer — Mr William F.

Lamey 1 50 Broadway —
I will send your last letter to him, and he will probably get in touch with you — Regretting all the trouble this may have given you —

Yours —

Very truly yours —

Beatrice H. Pascal.

Dear Madam:

It is perfectly all right to have left the coins here. We have simply stored them away. When the lawyer or you are ready to take them up again, I will give the matter attention.

Yours very truly,

Curator.
